DOORFACE™

A door gives the first impression of a room

It is importance that you choose the right kind of door to make a statement about the room. Cantolli's Door Facings is made of 0.6mm decorative wood veneer laminated onto 3.6mm tropical hardwood plywood. Using our Door Facings, a beautiful interior door can be constructed using various core construction methods - such as fire rated, solid, semi-solid or hollow core.

Doors are commonly subjected to heavy wear and tear. It is important that thick veneer (0.6mm) is used as the face veneer in making Door Facings. The difference between Cantolli's quality and conventionally thinner veneer came through in the durability and finishing of each door.

Using only natural wood veneer, one of nature's most beautiful gifts, Cantolli Door Facings bring to life the unique feeling of a room with its natural character, grain and texture. These character will vary from species to species and from log to log, each warm with its own appeal.
