Choose Your Own Veneer

Although of similar species, every tree and hence every slice of veneer is different with its distinctive colour, grain and texture. Each having its own beauty, own way to accentuate and complement different surroundings.

One Species, many effects

1. Ebony with flowery grain

2. Ebony with straight, narrow grain

The veneer cut from 2 trees of the same species can be surprisingly different. Each will have its own unique effect in an interior design.

Unless you personally inspect & select which piece & effect you want, you could end up with something you don't know.

Richwood[®] HI-TECH VENEER

Stained, dyed and recomposed to look so natural, or to meet your colour and texture needs. Richwood Hi-Tech veneer are a cost effective solution that provide consistency and uniformity, eliminating all undesirable characters of natural veneers.

COCOTAJ www.cocotaj.com coconut mosaic series

Natural Mosaic Series

Classic Mocha Urban Alpine

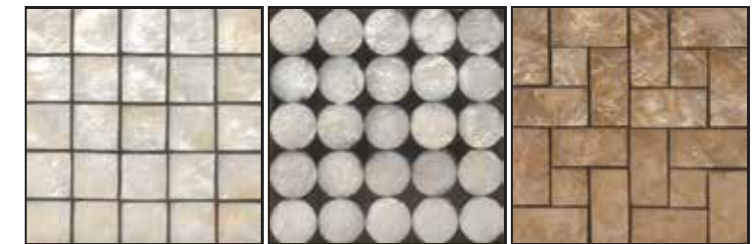

COCOTAJ coconut mosaic tiles are made of natural coconut shell chips. Coconut trees grow abundantly in the tropical regions. Traditionally the shell has been thrown away or used as fuel. By using special machinery and skilled labor, these shells are manufactured into beautiful and yet environmentally friendly decorative mosaic tiles for wall panelling and furniture application.

DECORSHELL www.decorshell.com

Decorating with Seashell...

SEASHELL - an exciting decorative material that has long been over looked until now. Although abundant supply of washed up empty seashells can be found on all the beaches of the world, very little effort has been made to capture the beauty of the lustrous inner shell layer that is strong, resilient and iridescent.

RETROWOOD www.retrowood.com

RETROWOOD is an exciting mix of old styles in modern form. It is contemporary yet it blends in retro style with a touch of country. Sourced from recycled wood, the lumber is skilfully processed into various beautiful decorative mosaic patterns. The rough surface with its unique saw marks adds a hint of rustic old charm, that can instantly bring one back to the nature.
